By International News Service

MOSCOW, Nov. 3.—Panic was reported to have broken out in Budapest today as Soviet armored columns slashed to within 20 miles of the Hungarian capital.

The Soviet Army newspaper Red Star said that business men, factory owners and other wealthy persons are fleeing where possible, their efforts were hampered by the Germans who are commandeering all vehicles in Budapest for the army, reported to have lost half of its trucks in the past few days.

Red Star said panic also is mounting among troops retreating back toward Budapest in the face of the Soviet onslaught.

On some sectors, the paper added, the Red Army advance has become a pursuit of entire divisions.

The Soviet columns, now within easy artillery range of Budapest, are pressing the Germans back on the city swiftly and reconnaissance

SUPERFORTRESSES RAID RANGOON

Washington—B-29 Superfortresses operating "in substantial force" from bases in India carried out a record bombing raid today against a railroad marshalling yard at Rangoon, in Jap-dominated Burma.

Announcement of the daylight raid, in which the Superforts went over the target with the largest bomb loads per plane "so far known to have been lifted in aerial warfare," was made by the 20th Air Force headquarters in Washington.

Almost two hours after the original announcement the War Department added that "there were no losses on this mission as a result of enemy action." There was no immediate indication, however, whether any planes were lost through operational failure.

In its 19th communique since the B-29's began their punishing attacks on Jap installations the 20th Air Force said that "preliminary estimates of damage inflicted are good."

This newest Superfort assault was believed to have been the first major B-29 raid from bases in India. Previous communique have reported the attacking planes as based in China.

The brief official announcement made no mention of Jap reports that one or more of the huge bombing planes carried out an operation over Tokyo several days ago.

THE LAMP OF THE PAST

(Doylestown Intelligencer)

*I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided,
and that is the lamp of experience. I know of no
way of judging of the future but by the past.*

—PATRICK HENRY.

There is no question to which it would be harder to get a Roosevelt spokesman's answer than the following: "Where was the Roosevelt peace program eight or ten years ago, when the world was begging for leadership out of the threat of war, and for an adequate program of international co-operation which might have prevented the present conflict?"

No man in history, no purportedly peace-loving ruler of a great nation, ever faced so inspiring a challenge and opportunity to lead the peoples of the world back from the edge of a precipice as President Roosevelt faced in the first eight years of his administration.

The smaller nations of the world, the lesser democracies, were being gobbled up by the dictatorships.

The larger nations were stunned and dismayed.

Repeatedly they looked to our great Western Republic for leadership and inspiration, for moral and spiritual guidance much more than for material help.

Had there been a sturdy and courageous voice urging confederacy of democracies against aggression, a clarion call from the greatest Democracy for all peoples believing in self-rule to make common cause against dictatorships,—how much later history might have been changed!

How much suffering, desolation, death and disaster would have been spared to the world had President Roosevelt spoken then, in the supremacy of his power, as he speaks now when he gives labored explanations of his "foreign policy" as part of his scurrying efforts to stave off political disaster!

What did these desperate small democracies see when they turned toward America?

They saw this nation being told by its rulers that the day of democracy was over; that we had built our plant; that our economic collapse could be staved off only by borrowing and squandering in this generation the earnings of our children and our children's children; that it was from the guile of the dictators, and not our own bright history, that we must find the guides to our future destiny.

They saw a national administration using its diplomatic corps neither for world service nor service to the American people, but as a means of rewarding two favored groups—political hacks who had largely outlived their vote-getting abilities, and sons of wealthy men eager for the prestige and the contacts with foreign politics which such positions afforded.

They saw a great people seething with factional strife constantly agitated by a sort of tea-cup Cabinet, a little coterie of mysterious friends more trusted by the President than his own personally-chosen public and party officials.

They saw a chief executive, sworn to uphold the Constitution, nevertheless busy trying to seize the powers of Congress, trying to pack the courts, trying to tear down the American pattern of States' Rights—undermining the whole principle of separation of powers upon which the Constitution was built.

They saw a President rebuking dictatorship with words, yet aping it at home and aiding it abroad with the

Dis' Governor Attends Exchange Club Meeting

The Bristol Exchange Club, at its weekly meeting yesterday, enjoyed having as a guest Clayton S. Steigener, district governor of Pennsylvania Exchange.

After business, President Abraham Bustraan presented Mr. Steigener. The district governor spoke of the successful national convention recently held at Toledo, O., and the nation-wide growth of the Exchange club movement.

Mr. Steigener remarked "I like to think of Exchange as being a spirit, as being a force, as being a power, guiding as it were from these times of stress into the newer experiences and to higher levels of life in the community, state and nation. Exchange has made contributions toward the welfare and the well-being of our people and our common country, and I have faith to believe that Exchange shall make greater contributions in time to come."

"We need the spirit that will endure hardships, for I have faith in the institution of our government. We need that spirit which exemplifies a faith in the American scheme of things. Today we need faith that makes us believe in our fellowman; that makes us believe literally and truthfully that all men are endowed with certain inalienable rights; that right of peace, that right to pursue business and that right to live a life of decency in any community in this land, is one of the inalienable rights of every citizen."

"See to it that some power should reside in your community which shall champion the cause alike of the low and the great, the poor and the rich."

"Let us not forget, Exchangers, that now of all times, is the time for Exchange to 'light the good fight' and keep the faith. May Exchange grow stronger in the years to come and may she long endure."

FIRE POWER

Now that all types of American guns are in action in large numbers on the Western Front, much information concerning their firepower is being made available. While these weapons were in England awaiting the day of invasion, they were virtually military secrets. As a result, the Germans now are facing unexpected artillery strength, which so far they have been unable to match. From the American left flank to the southernmost extremity, German defenses are being blasted, paving the way for further advances.

It has been officially announced that General Patton and General Hodges have achieved every objective assigned to them. Much of the credit is given to the artillery which has opened the way for their ground troops, enabling them to move forward with a minimum of losses because enemy defense has been reduced. On the Western Front there is the greatest array of artillery ever seen in any war.

Not only are the guns there, but they are being serviced in a most effective manner. The instant one is damaged or out of action for any reason, it is taken to the rear where expert ordnance men make needed repairs. One observer who passed along the entire front said he did not see a single gun mired in the mud or abandoned. Day and night they continue to blast away at German defenses, with each shot bringing final victory nearer.

TOWARD A CRACKUP

It now seems clear that in this war, unlike the last one, the German high command will not give up until resistance has worn itself out. In 1918 the German leaders were sentimental about a war on German soil. The Nazis are facing it with whatever resolution they can command from their subjects.

Already cities in the Reich have been destroyed and a fringe of countryside laid waste along the western border. But the German people have showed no signs of demanding a halt and the Nazi leaders, fearful for their hides, apparently will go to any extreme.

Does this forecast a war continuing for months after months into the indeterminate future? Probably not. This war has proved conclusively that a nation can not make a prolonged stand against stronger opposition. Germany demonstrated this against a long list of nations in 1939, 1940 and 1941. A combination of power, expansiveness and Anglo-American assistance saved Russia in 1942. Since then the Allies, with steadily developing might, have turned the tables entirely so that Germany is definitely the weaker.

A weaker nation surrounded by stronger nations faces countless difficulties, any one of which can prove to be fatal. Any break in the defending line will let the whole tide come pouring in. The time will come when German decimation reaches the point of total collapse.

"So Help Me God"

By RAY L. DUDLEY

President and Publisher of The Gulf Publishing Co., Houston, Texas

I stood in the blazing sun at Ellington Field, in Texas, last Monday and watched the cadets file by, fine manly chaps, watched them come into the hall in which they were to receive their wings as commissioned officers in the United States Army Air Force. My third and last boy, a lad of 19, was among them.

Two years ago his mother and I had seen a similar group file into the chapel at Ellington to receive their wings, and our second boy was among them. Today he and his elder brother, who had chosen Navy Air, are memories, precious memories, it is true, but boys to be spoken of in hushed tones as boys who would have made good citizens, two boys whose memories will never be dimmed in the eyes of their father and mother. They, with thousands of others, have made the supreme sacrifice for America as they knew it and loved it.

Then Monday we heard again the prospective officers take the oath necessary to their commissions: "I do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign or domestic, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office upon which I am about to enter: SO HELP ME GOD."

For a moment my thoughts drifted from the son whose burned body lies somewhere in France and from the other son who lies in native soil.

Our forefathers who wrote the Constitution knew that they were giving to future generations a document so precious that it would be worth the loss of American lives to preserve . . . and they knew that there would arise enemies to it, domestic as well as foreign.

Then my mind went back to a time nearly three years ago, when my first two boys volunteered, and the pledge I made them then:

"To the best of my meagre ability I shall do all I can to defend against foes at home the institutions you boys have enlisted to uphold . . . and I shall do that without fear of sacrifice if it costs me everything I have, including my life, so help me God."

It was not necessary that I pledge them my fullest efforts to help prosecute the war . . . they could have expected no less of me as an American and a father.

The casualty lists over the country name thousands of parents whose boys have been lost and whose sons are as precious to them as mine were to me. I claim no distinction as the parent of boys who have died in the service. I can only claim to be among those to whom this war is a deadly serious thing, and I wish my claim to be listed among those who resent with every atom of their being, the efforts which are being made by the HILLMANS, the BROWDERS, the MURRAYS and others, including OUR PRESIDENT, to nullify the sacrifices of thousands of American boys.

As I heard the oath to defend the Constitution repeated by the young men at Ellington, I could not but remember the remarks which have been made about it by Americans of foreign birth who would seek to destroy it . . . "a scrap of paper . . . an outmoded document . . . a bill of property rights rather than a bill of human rights." And these are the men who are asking that we trust our country to them.

The situation under which the Communist Front in America is trying to wield control over our country through the capture of one of our great political parties, is so preposterous as to be almost incredible. But make no mistake—the threat is a real one. That a Russian-born radical, with all of the class hate of his native land should aspire to control this country is so fantastic that many cannot believe it. But it is true.

That he and his fellows have openly boasted that their organization, the CIO, is raising millions as a war chest to help keep Roosevelt in power, indicates a blatant confidence in their victory. That this money should be extracted from hundreds of thousands of members whose membership was forced on them, is a disgrace. That they get away with it is a shameful tribute to the close association they have with our Department of Justice.

Who was it who climbed the stairs, hat in hand, to Hillman's suite in a Chicago hotel to learn the wishes of the boss as to who would be Democratic candidate for the vice-presidency? It was our United States Department of Justice head—the man sworn to uphold our laws (including the Smith-Connally act which makes it a felony for a labor party, or a corporation, to contribute to a political party). Yes, it was Attorney General Biddle, and the man with him was the person who later was named by Hillman as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, Harry Truman.

With Hillman and Browder and their ilk as arrogant as they are now, what will their attitude be if they succeed in re-electing Franklin D. Roosevelt? Where will their power end? What will happen to the rights guaranteed under our Constitution? If our interests should ultimately clash with those of Russia at what point will these men make up their minds as to where their first loyalty shall lie? If England's interests should clash with those of Russia, will our country's armed forces be thrown against a nation whose kinship to us derives from a common parenthood?

This is a long way from the ceremony at Ellington last Monday. The field has widened until the lives of a large group of fine boys seem but a drop in the great ocean.

But it is not a long way from the pledge I made my boys.

"Included in the methods of fighting fires are: removal of articles which are on fire, removing oxygen from the air, reduction of temperature by various methods. Full instructions in the field are given by actual practice with various forms of equipment.

"Special equipment is used for fighting fires under pilings and on the docks. Tests are also conducted on oil tanks, piers, and typical ships' engine rooms where fires are started and then brought under control.

"Instructions in how to fight fires started by saboteurs are also given.

"A liberty ship which is no longer of practical value to shipping, is tied up at Fort Mcherry and used for practical demonstrations on how to fight fires. Authorities are continuously working to find better methods for fire protection and prevention," the speaker concluded.

Sweeping the skies ahead of the advancing ground forces, Soviet airmen harassed the Germans and Hungarians all along the route of retreat.

The Soviet advance was pressed beyond the captured railway station of Doensoed, 21 miles south of the Hungarian capital. The fall of Doensoed came almost simultaneously with the capture of 60 other Hungarian towns.

Stockholders - MEET YOUR MANAGEMENT

STOCKHOLDERS in a business concern are interested in knowing that the company is being well managed. They like to have at least an annual report from the officers of the company.

The schools of our community belong to the people. Every person who pays taxes is a stockholder. He has a personal interest in the schools. He should know the teachers and school administrators who run the schools.

American Education Week, November 5-11, is a good time to get better acquainted. It has been set aside by local school officials for the purpose of reporting to the public on the schools.

On this occasion your schools give you a special and cordial invitation to visit them . . . to see for yourself what is being taught to the children and young people of today . . . to see how modern methods of teaching have changed since "You and I were Young."

We think many parents will be amazed at the advances that have been made in our schools despite the handicaps of wartime shortages of teachers and equipment.

The schools are helping to prepare our children to solve the difficult problems that will confront them and our country in the years to come.

Visit your school during American Education Week.

Today's Quiet Moment

By The Rev. Lehman Strauss
Pastor
(Calvary Baptist Church)

O Lord, we honor Thee with our praises for the evidences of Thy blessing upon America. In the quiet depths of our own spirit we thank Thee for the liberties that have been ours in this great Land. But in these days of low moral standards, great increase in consumption of liquor and widespread communistic activities, we pray that our beloved Nation shall be visited with a spiritual awakening. Father, we confess that we need a moral bath. Grant, even now, that hearts shall be turned to the Lord Jesus Christ Who died and rose again that we might be saved from our sins. We pray in Jesus' Name. Amen.

BRISTOL AND BURLINGTON ELEVENS BOTH HAVE WON FIVE STRAIGHT GAMES; READY FOR TOMORROW

Bristol High will cross the river tomorrow afternoon to meet Burlington High in the Little Brown Jug contest. Kickoff is scheduled for two o'clock.

Burlington has won five straight games and is undefeated. Its goal line was crossed for the first time last week and the Jersey club holds victories over both Bensalem and Morrisville of the Lower Bucks County.

The Bunnies have also won five straight games but had a defeat racked onto them in the season's opener at Trenton Catholic. Bristol has rolled up more points than Burlington but at the same time has had more scored against them. Burlington beat Riverside, 19-6, while Bristol scored a 3-13 triumph over Riverside.

Outstanding in the Burlington line-up is their triple-threat star, Sammy Calderone. Sammy is particularly noted for his forward passing. His passes are thrown like a bullet and his wingmen are usually there to catch them. Burlington has a fine set of ends in Duhek and Chlemingo.

Whether Calderone can match the backfield tactics of Joe McDevitt, of Bristol, remains to be seen. McDevitt is Bristol's threat to the Jersey team and when Burlington's backs were here several weeks ago they figured that if McDevitt is stopped so will be the Bristol team.

Coach Harold Stackhouse drilled his proteges all week on forward pass defense and is determined to stop the strong passing attack of the Jerseyites and bring the Little Brown Jug back to Bristol.

In other Lower Bucks County games, Bensalem will travel to Horsham to play Bordentown Municipal Training and Morrisville will have a "breafter" in meeting the Upper Merland High School. The Bulldogs will be after their third straight win. This game will be played at Upper Merland.

Sportsmen's Briefs

By JOE ELBERSON

Some disappointments... with the opening of small game season in Pennsylvania on Wednesday more gunners were in the fields locally than I have witnessed in the last ten years. And the bag, per hunter, was probably lower than it has been in the last half dozen years. In proportion to the number of men that were in the fields and woods very few pheasants were killed. A good many hunters didn't even see a cock bird all day long. Outside of that it was a wonderful day to be hunting. After an early morning haze and fog old Sol came out with a summertime brilliance and heat. By noon our party were hunting in shirt sleeves!

George Ritter, Harold Elbersson and I hunted a private (and posted) farm in Middletown township. Contrary to the general run of game with many hunters we had plenty of shooting all day long. By four o'clock we had a pair of pheasants, 12 rabbits, 12 squirrels, and plenty of misses.

First and only banded pheasant reported killed was one shot by Harry Zobel, Croydon. By virtue of that fact he is the winner of a five-dollar prize offered by the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association for the first banded bird to be shot. Twelve banded birds were released on open hunting territory in this section by the Association. According to the records of Bill Boesler, game committee chairman, the pheasant shot by Zobel was released in the old sand hole between Bath Road and New Rogers Road. The bird was shot near Grundy's Farm.

Date to remember: Next Monday, November 6... monthly meeting of the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs in Doylestown. Delegates are reminded that the meeting place for this meeting has been changed from the K. G. E. Hall to the Monument Restaurant, Main and Court streets. A report of the Fall meeting of the Southeast Division of Federated Sportsmen's Clubs will be presented by the Bucks County delegates. Clubs in the lower end of Bucks County, who are not too regular in attendance at the county meetings, are urged to be on hand next Monday.

New shotguns and rifles... according to a recent announcement of the War Production Board the manufacture of 495,000 new shotguns and rifles is being authorized for sportsmen and civilians and some of them may probably be obtained in the early part of next year.

Sufficient materials have been allotted to bring mid-1945 gun production for civilian use to approximately one quarter of each company's average yearly output.

Still more fish for lower Bucks County... seven hundred bluegills were put in Lake at Maple Beach last Friday. They were sent from the Torresdale Hatchery of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. The Board plans to stock the Canal with suckers and yellow perch next Monday.

Thirty-five pounds of fish... according to George B. Cherry, owner and operator of Cherry's Boat Landing, Bridgewater, a carp weighing 35 pounds was landed in the Neshaminy at the PRR bridge on October 29th by Edward Burk, Welsh Road, Phila. That's an awful lot of fish but they say there are some old fellows in the Neshaminy in that section that will even top 35 pounds! That is the biggest fish reported from the lower Neshaminy this year.

UP-TO-PRESS-TIME WAR BULLETINS

(By International News Service)

SUPERFORTRESSES RAID RANGOON

Washington—B-29 Superfortresses operating "in substantial force" from bases in India carried out a record bombing raid today against a railroad marshalling yard at Rangoon, in Jap-dominated Burma.

Announcement of the daylight raid, in which the Superforts went over the target with the largest bomb loads per plane "so far known to have been lifted in aerial warfare," was made by the 20th Air Force Headquarters in Washington.

Almost two hours after the original announcement the War Department added that "there were no losses on this mission as a result of enemy action." There was no immediate indication, however, whether any planes were lost through operational failure.

In its 19th communique since the B-29's began their punishing at- tacks on Jap installations the 20th Air Force said that "preliminary esti- mates of damage inflicted are good."

This newest Superfort assault was believed to have been the first major B-29 raid from bases in India. Previous communiqués have reported the attacking planes as based in China.

The brief official announcement made no mention of Jap reports that one or more of the huge bombing planes carried out an operation over Tokyo several days ago.

Richard K. Lusse, owner of Forest

Born in Switzerland, Mr. Lusse came to America at the age of 12 years. He became one of the outstanding machinists and inventors of amusement park devices, and for a number of years operated factories and had offices in Philadel-

Fifteen years ago Mr. Lusse retired from active business and since then has been living in West Palm Beach, Fla. He was on a visit with his son in Chalfont, when he was stricken yesterday. He had been in Chalfont for several ill and retired early. When Mr.

Richard Lusse arrived at the week-

Mr. Lusse invented many amuse-

ical Union at Peddie School

HIGHTSTOWN, N. J., Nov. 3.—
James M. Kyte, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kyte, of Bristol, and a senior at The Peddie School, here, is Republican chairman of the third presidential Political Union to be held here Sunday in the Alumni Gymnasium.

The question before the house
will be "Roosevelt or Dewey?"
Three students will speak for each party as follows: On domestic policy, Graham Adams, Republican, of Heineke, Democrat, Fort Monmouth, N. J.; George A. Carver, Jr.,

Carl Reynolds, Democrat, Quarry-
ville, will speak on foreign policy.
Harrison Chandler Clark, Republican, of Elmira, N. Y., will have as his topic "The Indispensable Man," while Luther W. Smith, Jr.,

Party?"

Each party will present an out-liam J. Timney, judge of the Civil

J., and former vice-dean of the John Marshall School of Law, will represent the Democratic party.
Capt. Gill Robb Wilson, New Jersey Director of Civilian Aviation,
will speak for the Republicans.

Following the speeches, a ques-floor. A ballot of the audience will then be taken.

Emilie Youth Fellowship Arranges Masked Affair

EMILIE, Nov. 3.—The Emilie Fallsington Youth Fellowship held a Halloween party on Monday evening in the social room of Emilie Church. Forty-six persons attended the affair.

Prizes were given to Anna Mae Liszewski, prettiest costume;
"Billy" Hibbs, most original, and Joyce and Donald Schewe, for funniest and ugliest costumes. Refreshments were served.

VETERAN OF WORLD WAR II AMONG FIRST TO GIVE BLOOD TO BLOOD DONORS UNIT HERE; KNOWS OF NECESSITY FOR PLASMA

The American Red Cross Mobile Blood Donor Unit rolled up to Harrison Hospital at 9:30 yesterday morning and at 10:15 the unit
under the supervision of a Navy
Air Corps doctor, Lt. S. Norris Ketchum, began the collection of 170 pints of blood.

Arriving with the first group of donors from Badenhausen Corp., was Richard Fountain, a veteran of the present war who served 14 months overseas. His baptism of fire was in the invasion of Africa with General Clark's army and his action carried through the Italy invasion. "Blood plasma was needed by the barrel-full on those shores of Africa, believe me, and when I hear the word 'invasion,'
I know that means plasma plenty!
Every pint helps, so here I am,"
he informed the corps of doctors,
nurses and volunteer workers.

Mrs. Bertha Edelman was transported by special motor corps to donate her pint of blood due to the fact she recently was a victim of an accident, breaking her ankle.

But that did not deter Mrs. Edelman who hobbled on crutches
through the registration and rest period.

Mrs. Thos. R. Powell, Bensalem
Township, and Mrs. T. B. Me-gargee urge all donors to fulfill their appointments with the mobile unit today and Saturday. "An empty donor bed may mean a serviceman's life," they advise.
"Keep your appointment and keep faith with yourself and our boys."
Those donating yesterday are as follows:

11th donation: Bertha Bauer.
Ninth donation: Thomas Ryan.
Seventh donation: Helen P. Dwyer. Sixth donation: Charles Funk.
Fifth donation: May McBrien.
Josephine Dean, Henry J. Naisby, Ella E. Weber, Clifford Smith, Nelson G. Myers, Isabelle P. Phipps, Marshall S. Finch, Lathrop Perkins.
Fourth donation: Elsie Ford, John resdale.

Pictures Shown In Bristol
Schools During Past
Two Days

ENROLLMENT NOW ON

The drive for enrollment in the Junior Red Cross were opened Wednesday and Thursday in Bristol schools with the presenting of two Red Cross news reels, which show
what each department of the Red Cross is doing during the war.

Mrs. Carl J. Foell, chairman of Junior Red Cross, Bristol Branch,
also spoke to the boys and girls,
explaining what their enrollment money is used for. First, it enrolls each classroom in the Junior Red Cross. Its magazine is sent to the room and also an activity calendar.
Second, it is used to help any needy boy and girl in Bristol, whether it be dental and medical care or with clothing and food.

A large amount at this time is used to purchase materials to make articles for servicemen. The boys in the army and navy hospitals and in outposts all over the world make the requests for games, scrapbooks,
writing pads and fancy tray mats
and napkins for the holidays.

The balance is sent to the national children's fund for children all over the world. Seventy friendship boxes have been sent from Bristol schools this year to boys and girls in England, Russia, Alaska, China and South America.

The enrollment period in Junior Red Cross is from November 1st through the 15th.

THE LAMP OF THE PAST

(Doylestown Intelligencer)
*I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided,
and that is the lamp of experience. I know of no
way of judging of the future but by the past.*
—PATRICK HENRY.

There is no question to which it would be harder to get a Roosevelt spokesman's answer than the following:
"Where was the Roosevelt peace program eight or ten years ago, when the world was begging for leadership out of the threat of war, and for an adequate program of international co-operation which might have prevented
the present conflict?"

No man in history, no purportedly peace-loving ruler of a great nation, ever faced so inspiring a challenge and opportunity to lead the peoples of the world back from the edge of a precipice as President Roosevelt faced in the first eight years of his administration.

The smaller nations of the world, the lesser democracies, were being gobbled up by the dictatorships.

The larger nations were stunned and dismayed.
Repeatedly they looked to our great Western Republic for leadership and inspiration, for moral and spiritual guidance much more than for material help.

Had there been a sturdy and courageous voice urging confederacy of democracies against aggression, a clarion
call from the greatest Democracy for all peoples believing in self-rule to make common cause against dictatorships,
—how much later history might have been changed!

How much suffering, desolation, death and disaster
would have been spared to the world had President Roosevelt spoken then, in the supremacy of his power, as he speaks now when he gives labored explanations of his "foreign policy" as part of his scurrying efforts to stave off political disaster!

What did these desperate small democracies see when they turned toward America?

They saw this nation being told by its rulers that the day of democracy was over; that we had built our plant;
that our economic collapse could be staved off only by borrowing and squandering in this generation the earnings of our children and our children's children; that it was from the guile of the dictators, and not our own bright history, that we must find the guides to our future destiny.

They saw a national administration using its diplomatic corps neither for world service nor service to the American people, but as a means of rewarding two favored groups—political hacks who had largely outlived their vote-getting abilities, and sons of wealthy men eager for the prestige and the contacts with foreign politics which such positions afforded.

They saw a great people seething with factional strife constantly agitated by a sort of tea-cup Cabinet, a little coterie of mysterious friends more trusted by the President than his own personally-chosen public and party officials.

They saw a chief executive, sworn to uphold the Constitution, nevertheless busy trying to seize the powers of Congress, trying to pack the courts, trying to tear down the American pattern of States' Rights—undermining the whole principle of separation of powers upon which the Constitution was built.

They saw a President rebuking dictatorship with words, yet aping it at home and aiding it abroad with the

REVIEWS SCHOOLING GIVEN AT FIRE SCHOOL

Lester B. Shoemaker Tells Rotarians About Ships
and Docks Protection

A WAR MEASURE

A review of a week's intensive training and schooling at the Coast Guard Fire School, Fort McHenry,
Baltimore, was given by Lester B.
Shoemaker, Tullytown, member of the Coast Guard Auxiliary, when he spoke to fellow members of the Rotary Club at the Elks' Home
here yesterday afternoon.

Shoemaker told members that the Coast Guard gives protection to shipping and all harbor facilities in this country and that the special schools of fire fighting are conducted in Baltimore and on the West coast for Coast Guard regulars, members of the Port Security forces and the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The course included lectures and field instruction in handling fire equipment.

"During the first two years of the war seventy per cent of the losses were from fires on ships in port,"
the speaker declared.

"When a munitions ship catches
fire it is towed out in the harbor

Dis't Governor Attends Exchange Club Meeting

The Bristol Exchange Club, at its weekly meeting yesterday, enjoyed having as a guest Clayton S. Steigner, district governor of Pennsylvania Exchange.

After business, President Abraham Bustraan presented Mr. Steigner. The district governor spoke of the successful national convention recently held at Toledo, O., and the nation-wide growth of the Exchange club movement.

Mr. Steigener remarked "I like to think of Exchange as being a spirit,
as being a force, as being a power,
guiding as it were from these times
of stress into the newer experiences and to higher levels of life in the community, state and nation. Exchange has made contributions toward the welfare and the well-being of our people and our common country, and I have faith to believe that Exchange shall make greater contributions in time to come."

"We need the spirit that will endure hardships, for I have faith in the institution of our government.
We need that spirit which exemplifies a faith in the American scheme of things. Today we need faith that makes us believe in our fellowman; that makes us believe literally and truthfully that all men are endowed with certain inalienable rights; that right of peace, that right to pursue business and that right to live a life of decency in any community in this land, is one of the inalienable rights of every citizen."

"See to it that some power should reside in your community which shall champion the cause alike of the low and the great, the poor and the rich."

"Let us not forget, Exchangeites, that now of all times, is the time for Exchangeites to 'fight the good fight' and keep the faith. May Exchange grow stronger in the years to come and may she long endure."

"So Help Me God"

By RAY L. DUDLEY

President and Publisher of The Gulf Publishing Co., Houston, Texas

I stood in the blazing sun at Ellington Field, in Texas, last Monday and watched the cadets file by, fine manly chaps, watched them come into the hall in which they were to receive their wings as commissioned officers in the United States Army Air Force. My third and last boy, a lad of 19, was among them.

Two years ago his mother and I had seen a similar group file into the chapel at Ellington to receive their wings, and our second boy was among them. Today he and his elder brother, who had chosen Navy Air, are memories, precious memories, it is true, but boys to be spoken of in hushed tones as boys who would have made good citizens, two boys whose memories will never be dimmed in the eyes of their father and mother. They, with thousands of others, have made the supreme sacrifice for America as they knew it and loved it.

Then Monday we heard again the prospective officers take the oath necessary to their commissions: "I do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign or domestic, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office upon which I am about to enter: SO HELP ME GOD."

For a moment my thoughts drifted from the son whose burned body lies somewhere in France and from the other son who lies in native soil.

Our forefathers who wrote the Constitution knew that they were giving to future generations a document so precious that it would be worth the loss of American lives to preserve . . . and they knew that there would arise enemies to it, domestic as well as foreign.

Then my mind went back to a time nearly three years ago, when my first two boys volunteered, and the pledge I made them then:

"To the best of my meagre ability I shall do all I can to defend against foes at home the institutions you boys have enlisted to uphold . . . and I shall do that without fear of sacrifice if it costs me everything I have, including my life, so help me God."

It was not necessary that I pledge them my fullest efforts to help prosecute the war . . . they could have expected no less of me as an American and a father.

The casualty lists over the country name thousands of parents whose boys have been lost and whose sons are as precious to them as mine were to me. I claim no distinction as the parent of boys who have died in the service. I can only claim to be among those to whom this war is a deadly serious thing, and I wish my claim to be listed among those who resent with every atom of their being, the efforts which are being made by the HILLMANS, the BROWDERS, the MURRAYS and others, including OUR PRESIDENT, to nullify the sacrifice of thousands of American boys.

As I heard the oath to defend the Constitution repeated by the young men at Ellington, I could not but remember the remarks which have been made about it by Americans of foreign birth who would seek to destroy it . . . "a scrap of paper . . . an outmoded document . . . a bill of property rights rather than a bill of human rights." And these are the men who are asking that we trust our country to them.

The situation under which the Communist Front in America is trying to wield control over our country through the capture of one of our great political parties, is so preposterous as to be almost incredible. But make no mistake—the threat is a real one. That a Russian-born radical, with all of the class hate of his native land should aspire to control this country is so fantastic that many cannot believe it. But it is true.

That he and his fellows have openly boasted that their organization, the CIO, is raising millions as a war chest to help keep Roosevelt in power, indicates a blatant confidence in their victory. That this money should be extracted from hundreds of thousands of members whose membership was forced on them, is a disgrace. That they get away with it is a shameful tribute to the close association they have with our Department of Justice.

Who was it who climbed the stairs, hat in hand, to Hillman's suite in a Chicago hotel to learn the wishes of the boss as to who would be Democratic candidate for the vice-presidency? It was our United States Department of Justice head—the man sworn to uphold our laws (including the Smith-Connally act which makes it a felony for a labor party, or a corporation, to contribute to a political party). Yes, it was Attorney General Biddle, and the man with him was the person who later was named by Hillman as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, Harry Truman.

With Hillman and Browder and their ilk as arrogant as they are now, what will their attitude be if they succeed in re-electing Franklin D. Roosevelt? Where will their power end? What will happen to the rights guaranteed under our Constitution? If our interests should ultimately clash with those of Russia at what point will these men make up their minds as to where their first loyalty shall lie? If England's interests should clash with those of Russia, will our country's armed forces be thrown against a nation whose kinship to us derives from a common parenthood?

This is a long way from the ceremony at Ellington last Monday. The field has widened until the lives of a large group of fine boys seem but a drop in the great ocean.

But it is not a long way from the pledge I made my boys.

"Included in the methods of fighting fires are: removal of articles which are on fire, removing oxygen from the air, reduction of temperature by various methods. Full instructions in the field are given by actual practice with various forms of equipment.

"Special equipment is used for fighting fires under pilings and on the docks. Tests are also conducted on oil tanks, piers, and typical ships' engine rooms where fires are started and then brought under control.

"Instructions in how to fight fires started by saboteurs are also given.

"A liberty ship which is no longer of practical value to shipping, is tied up at Fort Mifflin and used for practical demonstrations on how to fight fires. Authorities are continuously working to find better methods for fire protection and prevention," the speaker concluded.

Stockholders - MEET YOUR MANAGEMENT

STOCKHOLDERS in a business concern are interested in knowing that the company is being well managed. They like to have at least an annual report from the officers of the company.

The schools of our community belong to the people. Every person who pays taxes is a stockholder. He has a personal interest in the schools. He should know the teachers and school administrators who run the schools.

American Education Week, November 5-11, is a good time to get better acquainted. It has been set aside by local school officials for the purpose of reporting to the public on the schools.

On this occasion your schools give you a special and cordial invitation to visit them . . . to see for yourself what is being taught to the children and young people of today . . . to see how modern methods of teaching have changed since "You and I were Young."

We think many parents will be amazed at the advances that have been made in our schools despite the handicaps of wartime shortages of teachers and equipment.

The schools are helping to prepare our children to solve the difficult problems that will confront them and our country in the years to come.

Visit your school during American Education Week.

Today's Quiet Moment

By The Rev. Lelman Strauss
Pastor
(Calvary Baptist Church)

O Lord, we honor Thee with our praises for the evidences of Thy blessing upon America. In the quiet depths of our own spirit we thank Thee for the liberties that have been ours in this great Land. But in these days of low moral standards, great increase in consumption of liquor and widespread communistic activities, we pray that our beloved Nation shall be visited with a spiritual awakening. Father, we confess that we need a moral bath. Grant, even now, that hearts shall be turned to the Lord Jesus Christ Who died and rose again that we might be saved from our sins. We pray in Jesus' Name. Amen.

BRISTOL AND BURLINGTON ELEVENS BOTH HAVE WON FIVE STRAIGHT GAMES; READY FOR TOMORROW

Bristol High will cross the river tomorrow afternoon to meet Burlington High in the Little Brown Jug contest. Kickoff is scheduled for two o'clock.

Burlington has won five straight games and is undefeated. Its goal line was crossed for the first time last week and the Jersey club holds victories over both Bensalem and Morrisville of the Lower Bucks County.

The Bunnies have also won five straight games but had a defeat tacked onto them in the season's opener at Trenton Catholic. Bristol has rolled up more points than Burlington but at the same time has had more scored against them. Burlington beat Riverside, 19-6, while Bristol scored a 3-13 triumph over Riverside.

Outstanding in the Burlington line-up is their triple-threat star, Sammy Calderone. Sammy is particularly noted for his forward passing. His passes are thrown like a bullet and his wingmen are usually there to catch them. Burlington has a fine set of ends in Dudek and Chleming.

Whether Calderone can match the backfield tactics of Joe McDevitt, of Bristol, remains to be seen. McDevitt is Bristol's threat to the Jersey team and when Burlington coats were here several weeks ago they figured that if McDevitt is dropped so will be the Bristol team.

Coach Harold Stackhouse drilled his proteges all week on forward pass defense and is determined to stop the strong passing attack of the Jerseyites and bring the Little Brown Jug back to Bristol.

In other Lower Bucks County games, Bensalem will travel to Bordentown to play Bordentown Manual Training and Morrisville will have a "breather" in meeting the Upper Moreland High School. The Bulldogs will be after their third straight win. This game will be played at Upper Moreland.

Sportsmen's Briefs

BY JOE ELBERSON

Some disappointments . . . with the opening of small game season in Pennsylvania on Wednesday more gunners were in the fields locally than I have witnessed in the last ten years. And the bag, per hunter, was probably lower than it has been in the last half dozen years. In proportion to the number of men that were in the fields and woods very few pheasants were killed. A good many hunters didn't even see a cock bird all day long. Outside of that it was a wonderful day to be hunting. After an early morning haze and fog old Sol came out with a summertime brilliance and heat. By noon our party were hunting in shirt sleeves!

George Ritter, Harold Elbersson and I hunted a private (and posted) farm in Middletown township. Contrary to the general run of game with many hunters we had plenty of shooting all day long. By four o'clock we had a pair of pheasants, 12 rabbits, 12 squirrels, and plenty of misses.

First and only banded pheasant reported killed was one shot by Harry Zobel, Croydon. By virtue of that fact he is the winner of a five-dollar prize offered by the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association for the first banded bird to be shot. Twelve banded birds were released on open hunting territory in this section by the Association. According to the records of Bill Bossler, game committee chairman, the pheasant shot by Zobel was released in the old sand hole between Bath Road and New Rogers Road. The bird was shot near Grundy's Farm.

Date to remember: Next Monday, November 6 . . . monthly meeting of the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs in Doylestown. Delegates are reminded that the meeting place for this meeting has been changed from the K. G. E. Hall to the Monument Restaurant, Main and Court streets. A report of the Fall meeting of the Southeast Division of Federated Sportsmen's Clubs will be presented by the Bucks County delegates. Clubs in the lower end of Bucks County, who are not too regular in attendance at the county meetings, are urged to be on hand next Monday.

New shotguns and rifles . . . according to a recent announcement of the War Production Board the manufacture of 495,000 new shotguns and rifles is being authorized for sportsmen and civilians and some of them may probably be obtained in the early part of next year.

Sufficient materials have been allotted to bring mid-1945 gun production for civilian use to approximately one quarter of each company's average yearly output.

Still more fish for lower Bucks County . . . seven hundred bluegills were put in Idaline Lake at Maple Beach last Friday. They were sent from the Torresdale Hatchery of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. The Board plans to stock the Canal with suckers and yellow perch next Monday.

Thirty-five pounds of fish . . . according to George B. Cherry, owner and operator of Cherry's Boat Landing, Bridgewater, a carp weighing 35 pounds was landed in the Neshaminy at the PRR bridge on October 29th by Edward Burk, Welsh Road, Phila. That's an awful lot of fish but they say there are some old fellows in the Neshaminy in that section that will even top 35 pounds! That is the biggest fish reported from the lower Neshaminy this year.
